Season. With the probably coming of an East-ern League Club to Richmond there is every reason to believe that the revivat of the national game here will be wel-comed and that the game will prove a

Good Ball Games Expected at

Broad Street Park Next

Richmond has been without good, base-ball for five years. At one time this city was considered one of the best bal, towns in the country. Lovers of the game were numbered by the thousands, and many of the best players now in the big leagues played here early in their career, and may be said to have had their school-ing here. Richmond has been without good base-

For several years the old Virginia For several years the old Virginia League was the rage, with good teams in Norfolk, Petershurg, Lynchburg, Roanoke, Portsmouth and Richmond. Then came the Atlantic League, Players who were favorities of the fans in those days are now the idois of the enthusiants in are now the idols of the enthusians in New York, Brooklyn, Philadelphin, Pittsburg, Chicago, Boston, Baltimore, Washington and other large cities.

Among the players may be mentioned: Cheebro, Malarkey, Tannelli, Spa ks, Leever, Donovin, Garvin, Ye ger, M. Ginniy, Carrick, Benis, Caroy, Padden, Coughlin, Teister, Elberheld Seybold, Locknauer, Wagner, O'Hagan, Halman, Sheckard, Dolan, Barclay, Moran, all of the National League and American Association.

Sheekard. Dolan, Barclay, Moran, all of the National League and American Association.

Other players who have gone out from Richmond and the Virginia and Attantic League are: in the Eastern Leag o-Wrigley, Steelman, Stocksdale, Amo.e, Thackara, Drauby, Shoch, Hooker, Planmiller, Coogan, Suroh, Ferisch, Sand rs, O'Hagan, Odwell, Madison, Atherton, McFarlan, Mcintyre, Foster, Halligan, Getiman, Hayden, Cassidy, Other Leagues-Shannon, Yeager, Tanne...I (Jesse's brother), Hailman, Rothfu s, Clymer, Schaub, Heyden, Vox. All these players are now in the game and are favorites, and it is likely that some of them may be seen he'e next saason, either as members of the local team or connected with the visiting cities.

Those who have anything to do with bringing ine clubs here promise to give Richmond the best ball ever played here. The Eastern League is considered, ext to the National League and the American Associat on.

MAY TAKE RICHMOND.

Southern City May Get Into Eastern Base-Ball Circuit. (By Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—The Eastern

League base-ball circuit for 1904, will remain as it was during the past season, or Richmond, Va., will be taken in to succeed Montreal A meeting of the league was held in

A meeting of the league was held in the Hotel Victoria and adjourned after a very short session to to-morrow, to give the Circuit Committee time to report on the relative claims of Richmond and Montreal for admission as Eastern League territory. Neither city was represented at to-day's meeting, but President Powers was empowered to conduct the negotiations, and expressed his viewe to the Circuit Committee of the league, of which he is an ex-officio member. It seems that a prominent citizen of Richmond, of the name of Jake Wells, an am samert manager of means, harber amentioned as the probable backer of a club in Richmond, and he has a following among Eastern League managers that may cut Montreal out of the circuit for next year. The club presidents from other Eastern League cities look with much favor upon Wells, and seem to have little sympathy for the Worcester gentleman, who now runs the Montreal club.

But there is a movement on foot, backed by the cautious and far-seeing presi-cent of the league, which seeks to compe every club to incorporate with an ade-quate cash capital paid in to justify the club for coming into the league and as a sort of guarantee that it is liable for all obligations incurred. At present, nearly every club except Montreal is incorporated.

The move is, therefore, one aimed indirectly at the Canucks and intended to strongthen the financial standing of the two claimants for admission. The Circuit Committee, consisting of George Stallings of Buffelo, chairman; Judge Nevin, of Jersey City; Edward Hanlon, of Balthurge, and President Powers, exof Baltimore, and President Powers, ex officio, held a meeting this afternoon to consider the Richmond-Montreal situa-

At adjournment, President Powers is sued a formal statement declaring that the Circuit Committee will tomorrow re-port that the circuit of this year will be the same as last, with the possible substitution of Richmond for Montreal.
